

Course of the defence:

Student introduced the thesis, its aims and structure. He focused especially on the research questions and the main outcomes of the research. The reviewer and supervisor submitted and summarized their review and posed questions. They focused especially on the so called „Good Samaritan“ paradox and comparison of the current regulation of liability and the newly proposed rules. Student evaluated both of them and pointed out the still existing short-falls of the new system. He also answered questions relating to the role of national courts in the enforcement of current directive. The commission evaluated the thesis and defended the grade „4“.
