

Course of the defence: During the defence of his master thesis on the topic "The International Criminal Court and the Head of State Immunity", Fodé Traoré his brief, presented the topic, put forward reasons for the explanation of such a topic. Then he reacted on master thesis supervisors and reviewer's positions and answer the question of the commission:

- 1) What is in fact the relation between ICC statute Art 22 and Art 91?
- 2) To what extent there is a customary rule law or exception of immunity of state officials before ICC?
- 3) How the ICC work on immunity of state officials from foreign criminal jurisdiction impacts on the cooperation between ICC and member states?

With respect to the quality of the thesis and the development of the defence the commission has suggested to the student to remake the thesis and to submit a new version.
